The Occupational Safety & Health Administration (OSHA) Hazard Communication Standard 29CFR1910.1200 requires manufacturers to assess their products as to their hazard potential. G-M-I, Inc. has assessed the impact of the standard of All of our aforementioned products. The conclusion, after a comprehensive review that included consultation with suppliers and independent consultants, is that All of G-M-I, Inc.'s Cured Rubber Products are EXEMPT from this standard.

This exemption is based upon the premise that All of G-M-I, Inc.'s Cured Rubber Products are considered "Articles" as defined in 29CFR1910.1200(b)(6)(v), an "Article" as defined in 29CFR1910.1200(c), Definitions.

Article means a manufactured item other than a fluid or particle:

- (i) which is formed to a specific shape or design during manufacturing;
- (ii) which has end use function(s) dependent in whole or in part upon its shape or design end use;
- and (iii) which under normal conditions of use does not release more than very small quantities, e.g., minute trace amounts of a hazardous chemical (as determined under paragraph (d)* of this section), and does not pose a physical hazard or health risk to employees.

While G-M-I, Inc. believes that the information contained herein is accurate, it is not to be taken as a warranty of representation for which G-M-I, Inc. assumes any legal responsibility for product liability. This information is offered solely for our customers' consideration, investigation, and any necessary verification. Any use of this information or of the Cured Rubber Products provided by G-M-I, Inc. must be determined by the user to be acceptable for their intended purpose(s) and in accordance with the appropriate federal, state or local laws and regulations including 29CFR in its entirety.
